

architecture | engineering

Conway
Little Rock
Oklahoma City
Rogers
Russellville
Tulsa
Wichita

For Immediate Release:

Crafton Tull Sparks Employees Earn Accreditation

Oklahoma City, OK – Two staff members of Crafton Tull Sparks in Oklahoma City have passed professional exams.

Dana Templeton, AIA, LEED AP, passed the professional registration tests under the auspices of the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards. NCARB is the national agency that Oklahoma and other states use to administer tests that qualify individuals to be licensed by the state. She serves as a project architect in the firm's Oklahoma City office. She has a bachelor's degree in construction technology from the University of Central Oklahoma and a master's degree in architecture from the University of Oklahoma. Some of Dana's project experience includes West Field Elementary in Edmond, the University of Oklahoma Wellness and Fitness Center, and the firm's office in Bricktown.

Jason Emmett, P.E., LEED AP, passed the Oklahoma professional engineer exam. He serves as a civil engineer and has a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from the University of Arkansas. Jason is a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers and American Society of Civil Engineers. Some of Jason's project experience includes Mercy Health Systems of NW Arkansas, Scottsdale Center, Kent Dobbs Hyundai, Harris McHaney Office Building, and Kirksey Middle School.

Crafton Tull Sparks has 300 employees with offices in Conway, AR, Little Rock, AR, Oklahoma City, OK, Rogers, AR, Russellville, AR, Tulsa, OK and Wichita, KS. Founded in 1963, they provide planning, architectural, engineering, interior design, landscape architecture and surveying services across the nation.

Shelley Bowersock, Manager Marketing/PR
Crafton Tull Sparks
918-588-4026 / shelley.bowersock@craftontullsparks.com